

How to become a Microsoft Most Valuable Professional (MVP)?

Author : contactng

This question was haunting me from long that how to become an MVP, the simplest solution is CONTRIBUTE and SHARE!

The Microsoft Most Valuable Professional (MVP) Award is an annual award given to outstanding members of Microsoft's technical communities based on contributions made during the previous 12 months to offline and online Microsoft-related technical communities.

More you can found on MVP FAQ's available at <http://mvp.support.microsoft.com/gp/mvpfaqs>

If you think you or your friend eligible to be an MVP then you can Nominate by writing mail to mvpqa@microsoft.com by providing following details,

- Nominee's name
- Nominee's e-mail address
- Country where the nominee lives
- Nominee's main spoken language
- One or two Microsoft technologies or products that are the nominee's area of expertise (for example, Microsoft Office/Excel, Developer Tools/Visual C#, Entertainment/Windows Media Center, Server/Windows Small Business Server)
- Specific examples of online/offline community activities in which the person you are nominating participates (for example, newsgroups, forums, blogs, user group interactions, podcasts, community presentations, Web sites)

Successful candidates will be contacted by a member of the Microsoft MVP Award Program team.

Details at following link: <http://mvp.support.microsoft.com/gp/mvpnominate>

If you need more details about MVP/MCC then go to following link, <http://social.technet.microsoft.com/wiki/contents/articles/4827.how-to-become-an-mvp-or-mcc.aspx>

Hope it helps!

Disclaimer: I am neither a Microsoft representative nor MVP at point of writing this post (but would like to

Replace with your logo

Ramblings of a SQL DBA mind... by Nitin Garg

Ramblings of a SQL DBA mind...

<http://blogs.lostincreativity.com/sqldba>

after doing enough contribution), above details are result of my search on this topic and shared here to help others.